

ROBBERS WRECK INSIDE OF HOME

Discovery Made at Mrs. Cora W. Dillon's Residence Some Time After the Theft

VALUABLE SILVERWARE GONE

Loot is Valued at Several Hundred Dollars—Mrs. Dillon Away For Several Weeks

Robbers made a big haul at the residence of Mrs. Cora W. Dillon, 312 North Main street, sometime recently, but it was not discovered until Saturday afternoon, when Russell Kirkpatrick, her nephew, went to the house and found the interior almost a wreck.

Mrs. Dillon has been spending several weeks in Indianapolis, and the keys were left with Mr. Kirkpatrick, who had occasion to enter the place Saturday afternoon. The dwelling is located in the business district, just south of the postoffice.

The thieves entered the large brick building through a rear window, which they lowered when they left. It is not known how long ago that the place was entered, although the police found tracks in the snow around the window which was entered, and it must have happened during the past week, while the snow was on the ground.

Mrs. Dillon was notified and came here Sunday, and she gave the police a list of goods which were taken which included a set of silverware, several articles of silverware, one valuable set of surgical instruments which belonged to her late husband, Dr. O. P. Dillon, and other household valuables.

The list also included three white bed spreads, 3 sheets and pillow cases and an automatic 22 calibre rifle, and other articles.

The loot which was stolen was valued at several hundred dollars, and many articles may be missed later, which have not been accounted for yet.

Police Chief Blackburn, who was called by Mr. Kirkpatrick as soon as he discovered the robbery, stated that the house was almost a complete wreck on the inside, and that the robbers, had visited every room, ransacking all nooks and corners, overturning furniture, and giving the house the appearance of having been struck by a tornado.

The police believe that this residence was robbed about the same time that several other places were robbed recently, and an effort will be made to trace the stolen goods, as some of the line and silverware was marked with initials.

MARRIAGE LICENSES

Five marriage licenses were issued Saturday at the county clerk's office, and those receiving the licenses were as follows: Leslie E. Thompson, a farmer of this county, and Hettie Scott, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jackson Scott, also of this county; William M. Stiers, a steam engineer of this city and Mary Hall Houchins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. O. Houchins of Circleville; Wilbur Hall, a mechanic of Rushville and Catherine Clevenger, also of this city; George Gansert, a machinist of Connersville and Lelah Salyer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Salyer of Glenwood; William S. Davis, a foundry worker of this city and Ossie Haverkost, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Haverkost of this city.

BIRTHS

A baby girl weighing seven and one-half pounds was born to the wife of Harry Euler at their home, 336 West Ninth street, Saturday night. The baby has been named Ruth Margaret.

SUIT DISMISSED

A suit for possession of property, filed last week by Arvel Herkless against Elmer and Kate May, has been dismissed by the plaintiff, and the costs paid.

Few Deaths From Poison Liquor Christmas Day

(By United Press)

Outside of New York City where poison liquor consumed on Christmas day claimed one half dozen victims, whose bodies were examined in the morgue, the United States was markedly free of deaths from illicit alcohol this year.

Two lost their lives through drinking bootleg liquor in southern Ohio and one died in Oklahoma and one in Boston where twenty-seven victims are reported in a serious condition.

New York's toll of deaths from automobiles and Christmas fire accidents was also the highest reported, four being killed in the streets and four dying of burns.

One-half dozen persons were reported killed in gun fights and in several instances noticeable the result of participants having drunk poison liquor.

TRUCK UPSET AND DESTROYED BY FIRE

William Dugan And Hartford Sallee Narrowly Escape When Machine Is Hit By Another

DUGAN CARRYING NEWSPAPERS

A Ford light delivery truck, driven by William Dugan, 722 North Sexton street, employed in passing an evening delivery route for the Indianapolis News and the Daily Republican, was destroyed by fire Monday night about six o'clock 2½ miles south of Rushville when it was struck and overturned by a machine driven by A. G. Newbold of near Milroy.

Mr. Dugan and his companion escaped burning to death and managed to crawl out of the wreckage as it was bursting in flames. The machine driven by Mr. Newbold was not damaged and was driven to Milroy on its own power.

Mr. Dugan was passing his evening route, and was coming toward Rushville on the Winship pike, when Mr. Newbold attempted to pass him, going south toward Milroy. In some manner according to Mr. Dugan, the driver of the other car suddenly swerved and struck the Ford, causing it to topple over in the ditch, and it suddenly burst into flames.

The machine was a total wreck and Mr. Dugan did not carry insurance. The evening delivery route of Mr. Dugan's will be carried by another machine it was announced today.

SANTA CLAUS FUND SETS A NEW RECORD

Response to Appeal for Money to Help Needy and Unfortunate Greater Than in 1921

42 DINNERS ARE PROVIDED

Leslie M. Davis ----- 5.00
Mrs. J. M. Smith, Falmouth ----- 1.00
Salvation Army kettles --- 12.70

Total ----- $715.61
The Daily Republican-Salvation Army Santa Claus fund closed Christmas day $96.37 ahead of the 1921 fund. The response to the appeal for money to help the needy and unfortunate have a real Christmas was never as splendid as it was this year.

Members of the Rotary and Kiwanis clubs and the Elks lodge helped in the delivery of the baskets and the distribution of gifts, for children.

Forty-two baskets of food, ranging in size from one-half bushel to one bushel, all heaped to the top, were given to poor families who would not have had a Christmas dinner. In addition to the baskets, each family received one chicken, and in instances where the families were large, two chickens went with the baskets.

Approximately one hundred and thirty children were remembered with gifts, consisting of clothing and toys.

SEALS SALES FALL BELOW ALLOTMENT

Workers Are Well Pleased With Showing, However, Because of Wide Response Made

TOTAL TO DATE $1,635.06

Rushville is $156.00 Ahead of 1921 Record But Townships Report Smaller Sums

The Christmas Seals campaign will probably not yield $1,800, the county's allotment, according to reports received up to today, with $1,635.06 realized from sales of Seals and Health Bonds and two townships and part of another one yet to report.

In addition, there will probably be a few more sales in Rushville which will run the city sales above $1,332.52, the amount reported up until today.

Rushville people supported the Seals campaign better than last year, as the sales in the city to date have yielded $156.00 more than last year, but none of the townships equaled last year's record, which accounts for the fact that the county's quota was not reached.

Seals workers still have a faint hope that the county allotment may come near the mark, when the reports are all in.

The sum of $1,667 was raised last year from the sale of Seals and Health Bonds, which was more than the 1921 quota and this year the organization back of the project was anxious to make a similar record though Rush county was asked to do more.

The Seals workers are very much indebted for the very liberal support they received and have no regrets for the campaign that was made. They are especially pleased at the way Rushville came forward because some of the large sales of last year were not equalled this year, but a much larger number of people participated and bought Seals and Bonds, thus producing a larger sum of money.

Nine townships have reported sales amounting to $303.54, whereas last year the total for the townships outside Rushville was $491.00. No report has been received from Walker or Orange townships and the east side of Union township. These are expected to bring the townships up to approximately $400.

CHARLEY DEILKES IS SENT TO STATE PRISON

Farmer Living South of Morristown Admits Issuing Bad Check When Arraigned In Court

GIVEN TERM OF 1 TO 5 YEARS

Charley Deilkes, a farmer living south of Morristown, who was arrested Friday by the police here on a charge of issuing a bad check on the Kroger grocery store in West third street was arraigned this morning in the circuit court before Judge Sparks, and pleaded guilty to the charge, receiving a fine of $1 and costs, and a sentence of not less than one year, nor more than five years at the state prison.

The man was arrested in company with Mrs. Grace Beecraft, as they were preparing to leave the city according to the police. The check was admitted to be a forged one, and was given on a bank at Milroy.

According to the officers, the man had the check made payable to Mrs. Beecraft and she cashed it for the amount of $12 at the grocery store, several weeks ago, and it was traced to the defendant, but he eluded the officers until Friday.

Sheriff Hunt will probably take the prisoner in a day or so to begin his sentence. Mrs. Beecraft, who was arrested and held in jail for a time, was released when she is said to have given the authorities convincing evidence of the guilt of the man.

ARRESTS ARE PROMISED

Mer Rouge, La., Dec. 26—The cloak of mystery covering principals and details of the flogging and murdering of Watt Daniels and Thomas Richards by a mob of masked terrorists, will be torn off within forty-eight hours, federal authorities announced today.

Department of justice agents have established the identity of the mysterious figure who loosened a heavy weight of dynamite which freed the two bodies from weights which had held them undiscovered at the bottom of Lake Forche since August, they announced today.

An arrest will be made today or tomorrow, federal authorities declared.

CLEVINGER TRIAL IS HELD UP FOR TWO DAYS

Second Hearing of Liquor Case Postponed When Defendant Asks Change of Judge.

FIVE NAMES ARE SUBMITTED

Fred Clevenger, charged with unlawfully selling liquor, who was scheduled to go on trial this morning for the second time, will not be tried until Thursday, as a motion was filed this morning asking for a change of judge from Judge Will Sparks.

A special venire of 25 names had been ordered for today and they were present for the case, but when time came for court to convene, the motion for a change of judge was presented. The judge ordered the special venire to report Thursday morning, and another panel of 12 names was ordered drawn in addition to the 25 extras.

The defendant in his motion for a change of judge, alleged that he could not receive a fair trial, and because the court had heard the evidence at the previous trial, over which the jury failed to agree.

Judge Sparks submitted a list of five judges to try the case, including John W. Craig, Greensburg; Fred C. Gause, Newcastle; Ralph Himelick, Connersville; Fred Hines, Noblesville; and Fremont Miller, Franklin. From this list the state will strike off two and the defense will strike off two, leaving the remaining judge the one elected to hear the case.

SUNDAY MEETINGS MOVEMENT STARTED

Rotary Club Will Join With Kiwanis Club in Project to Arouse Interest in Boys

M. R. M'DANIEL AT LUNCHEON

A movement for Sunday afternoon men's and boy's meetings was started today when the Rotary club endorsed such a project and pledged its support and promised to co-operate with the Kiwanis club in the enterprise, the avowed purpose of which is to increase interest in the boy life of the city and county.

The proposal was submitted to the Rotary club by Walter Easley, owner of the Princess theatre, who said that he would permit the use of his theatre free of charge for the meetings. Plans will be worked out by a joint committee from the two clubs.

A movement to bring the state log-rolling of the Modern Woodmen lodge to Rushville, which has been before the Kiwanis club, was also endorsed at the regular meeting of the Rotary club today noon.

M. R. McDaniel, principal of the Oak Park, Ill., high school and formerly principal of the Rushville high school, spoke for a few minutes. Mr. McDaniel is a member of the Oak Park Rotary club. William Sparks, Indiana university student, was also a guest and spoke briefly. Walter Pearce, who retired as a member of the Rushville club, expressed his regret over leaving Rushville. He and Mrs. Pearce will leave tonight for California to live.

CHRISTMAS WAS WIDELY OBSERVED

Spirit of the Season Was More in Evidence in Rush County Than Ever Before

BUSINESS SETS NEW MARK

Holiday Mail at Postoffice Also Largest on Record—Christmas Programs Well Attended

Christmas was more widely observed in Rushville and Rush county this year than ever before in history, according to all reports today.

The spirit of the season was more in evidence and the poor and the unfortunate and the needy people of the city and county were better cared for than they ever have been.

Rushville merchants are unanimous in the assertion that Christmas business this year was the equal of any previous year and some declared that new records were established by the trade which they enjoyed.

Christmas falling on Monday made the special Christmas programs by the churches doubly effective because the majority of them were given on Sunday. The Nativity at St. Paul's Methodist Episcopal church and the Christmas musical program at the Princess theatre by the Main Street Christian church choir and Cole's orchestra, both drew large crowds Sunday night.

The old custom of singing Christmas carols was revived by the choir of St. Paul's church Christmas eve when members of the rode about the city in a motor truck and sang in front of many homes.

New records were established at the postoffice, not only in the amount of mail handled, but in the dispatch with which it was handled as well.

The city carriers enjoyed their first Christmas holiday in many years by delivering mail Sunday. The bulk of the first class mail was all in the hands of patrons of the postoffice by Sunday noon, but the parcel post men were busy most of the day Sunday and Monday. They did not stop Christmas day until every parcel that could be delivered was carried to its destination. All mail for dispatching on trains went out on schedule and the postoffice force was being congratulated today for the way in which they took care of the greatest rush in the history of the Rushville office.

TO START ACTIVE SEASON

Franklin Lodge, I. O. O. F. Will Have Class Wednesday Night

A class of five candidates will receive the initiatory degree in Franklin lodge No. 35 I. O. O. F. Wednesday evening when the active season will be inaugurated. After the degree, an oyster supper will be served in the dining room.

The work will be given in spectacular form accompanied by a ten-piece orchestra. Rehearsals have been held and it is expected that a record attendance will be present to witness the initiation, and special efforts are being made to interest the members in this meeting.

The annual rabbit supper of the encampment branch of the order will be held on New Year's night at 7:00 o'clock.

TO INSTALL OFFICERS

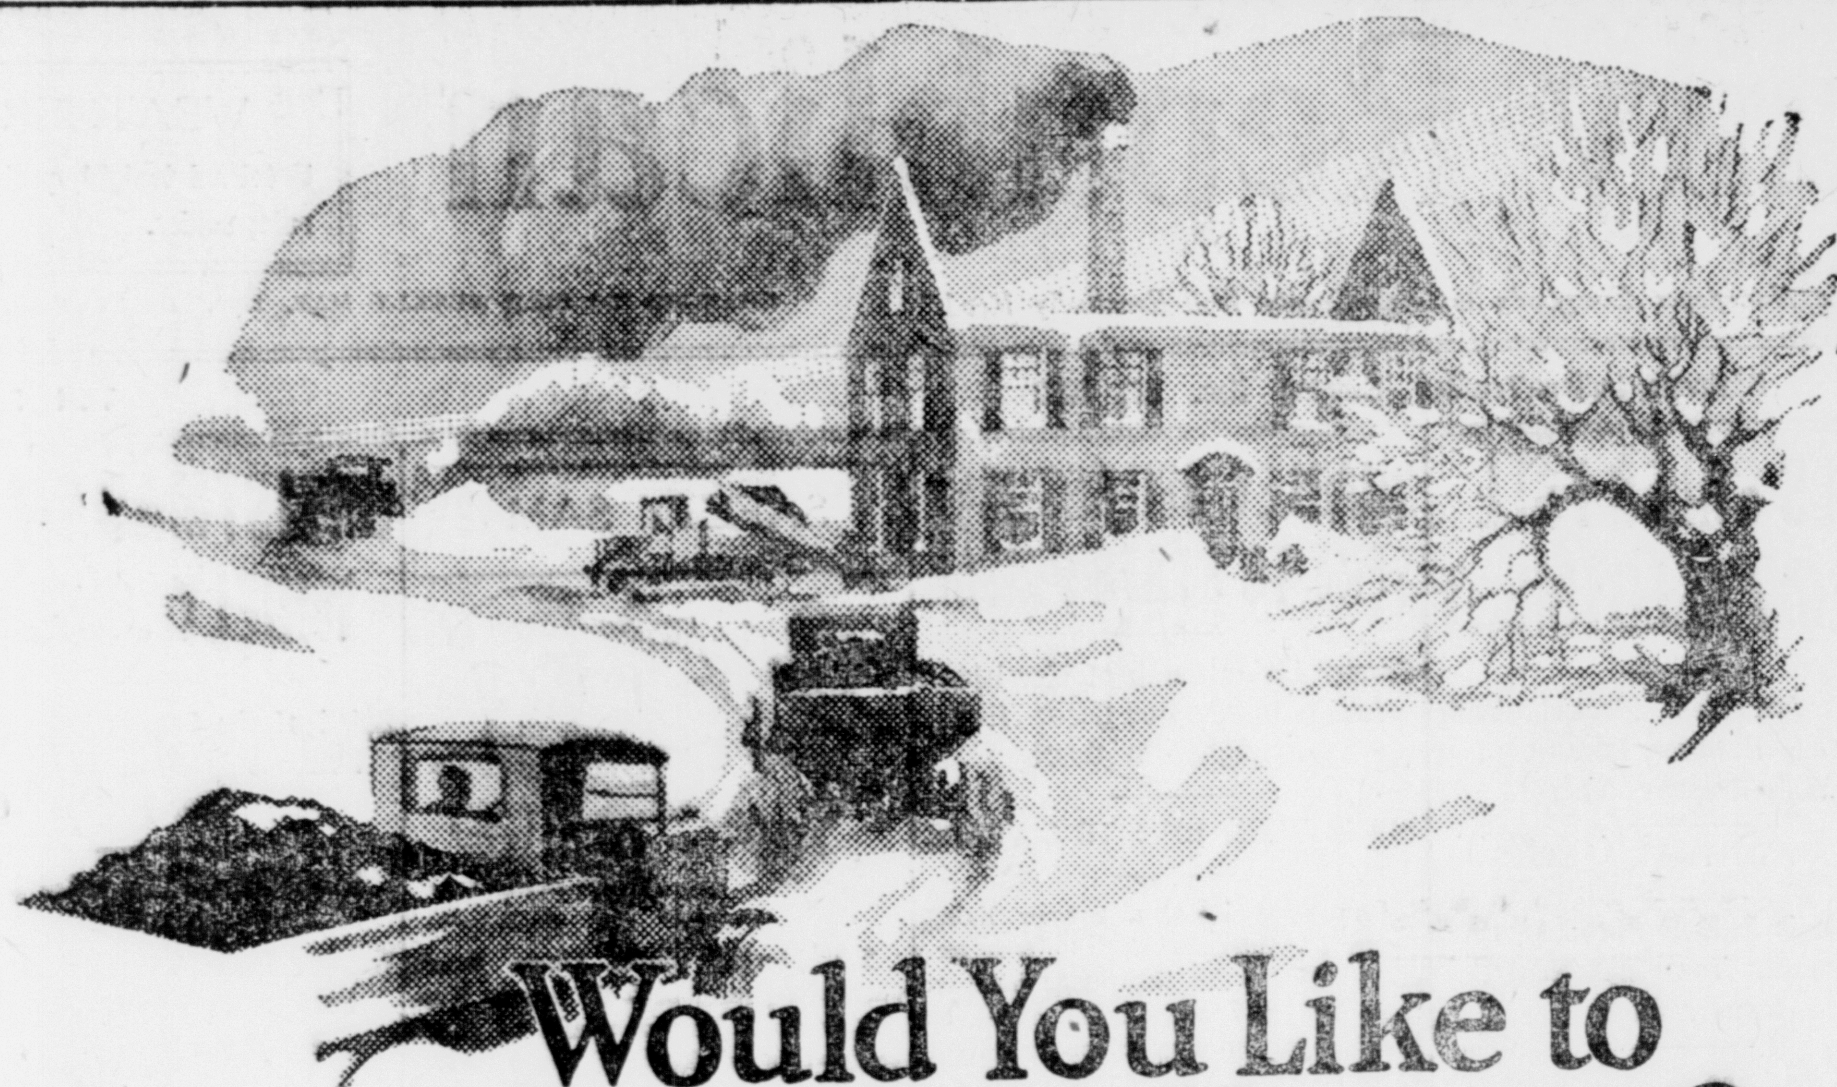

A meeting of the council and the Chapter will be held at the Masonic Temple Wednesday night for the installation of officers, after which work in the Royal Arch degree will be given.

IS TRAVELING SALESMAN

George Y. Hogsett has accepted a position with Havens and Geddes, an Indianapolis wholesale house, as a traveling salesman and has been given territory in Indiana.

CHRISTMAS PROGRAM

The Sunday school of the Second Baptist church gave a Christmas program at the church Monday night.

Would You Like to Heat a Roofless House ?

MAYBE it can be done—but nobody but the coal man would recommend the process. And his offer of a dollar a ton discount on the coal would be only a laughable inducement for getting you to try the experiment.

Yet in your motor car, that's exactly the kind of economy you face when you're persuaded to save (?) money on forced-process fuel.

Sodden, kerosenish fuel, only partly vaporizing in the carburetor and only partly burning in the cylinders, must be continually keyed up to an over-rich, under-aerated mixture to produce even a semblance of power.

The greater quantity that has to be constantly shoveled in more than makes up for the trifling gain in gallon cost.

SILVER FLASH GASOLINE, made only from the actual gasoline part of petroleum, is a native gas in temporary liquid form. Its easy evaporation proves its eager affinity for mixture with air. When released by the carburetor, it instantly bursts into the dry, full-volumed, highly-explosive gas that represents its NATURAL CONDITION.

Resistless power results from a lean, economical mixture. There is no wasteful over-richness, no overheating from slow combustion, no harmful backwash of kerosene to drip into the oil supply, no residue of free carbon to interfere with valves.

Because it delivers much more, it costs a little more. It has no quality discount to hide under the mask of a price discount.

Its use is not the cold hopelessness of heating a house without a roof, but the safety, comfort and real economy of logical good practice.

Stick to the Sensible

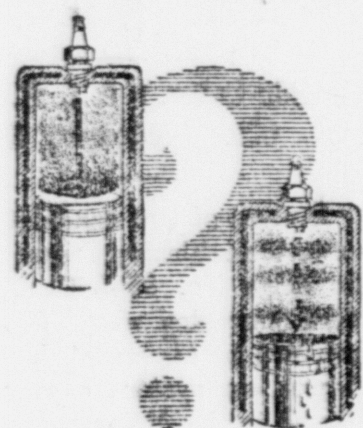

Silver Flash Gasoline

High Test Unblended

Which Explosion would you buy for power, mileage and motor safety—

This full-rounded straight-line thrust of Real Gasoline—

Or this sulky, gappy, kerosene-dripping, half-explosiveness of skimpy "cracked" substitutes?

again today. The story is woven around a young man who, while he remains in the city, is a criminal. But when circumstances take him out into the open spaces of the country he becomes a changed man and soon love and peace transform him. A man immensely rich. A man who had the greatest respect for women.

But a man who never married.

This was Cecil John Rhodes, empire-maker and philanthropist, who is the original of the character of John Quelch in Cynthia Stokley's story, "Pink Gods and Blue Demonds," which Penrhyn Stanlaw's has screened as a Paramount picture under the title "Pink Gods," featuring Bebe Daniels, James Kirkwood, Anna Q. Nilsson and Raymond Hatton. It will be a feature at the Princess Wednesday and Thursday.

AMUSEMENTS

Farnum At Mystic

On Wednesday the Mystic theatre will show the Fox production, "The Yosemite Trail," starring Dustin Farnum, who has scored many successes on both stage and screen.

As its name indicates, the story occurs in the Yosemite Valley. This background lends itself admirably for the excellent photography of the film. The picture is said to be filled with exciting action that is sustained from beginning to end. The majestic grandeur of the Yosemite is used by the director to create the impression of hugeness and power. So well has this been done, according to report, that the characters seem to stand forth like primitive giants who struggle for mastery.

This is the sort of photoplay in which Dustin Farnum excels and judging from his previous work, it should prove interesting entertainment.

SELF-PRAISE: — Let another man praise thee and not thine own mouth; a stranger, and not thine own lips.—Proverbs 27: 2.

Bright Year Ahead

The year is drawing to a close and 1922 will soon be history. We of Rush county have had a happy Christmas and we are looking forward to a year of greater prosperity in 1923.

There may be regrets for things undone in the year now breathing its last but they will all be closed and we will face the new year expectantly and with the ambition to do greater things.

The year 1922 was a wonderful year because its fruits were greater than we expected. It did not start off propitiously, but it finished exceptionally well, we could ask no more of it.

Rushville people have been prosperous. The Christmas trade was unusually good, in many instances setting a new high mark for next year's goal. The fortunes of the farmers of Rush county have improved during the past year and they may look 1923 in the face with a much brighter face than they did when 1922 was bowed in.

They have demonstrated their faith in the future by linking up their interests with that of their county organization and preparing for a year that promises much in improved business conditions.

The financial editor of the Indianapolis Star, in Christmas greetings to his readers, summed up 1922 and spoke very encouragingly of 1923 in these words:

"The year now drawing to an end has been a period of reconstruction —one of building up of new enterprises; of slowly recovering from the losses sustained in the preceding year.

"There have been many, many more days of sunshine and cheer during 1922 than there have been days of clouds and rain. We are traveling the road leading to better and brighter days. Much progress has been made. The pessimist has taken the count of ten—a knockout.
Our Christmas trade was the best for several years; our factories are speeding up; more men are being employed than a year ago. The outlook for the New Year is encouraging."

1922 All-American Eleven

EDITOR'S NOTE: By oversight
Henry L. Farrell, United Press
Sports Editor, got away to the Louisville Minor League meeting without picking an all American Eleven. Realizing that the oversight would involve our clients in great loss, we asked the political editor to sub for him in this assignment. Here are his selections and his reasons for making them.—The United Press
New York.

New York, Dec. 26.—The 1922 campaign was so full of fast and brilliant work, that any selection of an All-American team must be open to criticism. However, the following is suggested:

Left End—Smith of New York.
Left Tackle—Donahay of Ohio.
Left Guard—Farris of Michigan.
Center—Borah of Idaho.
Right Guard—Frazier of North Dakota.

Right Tackle—Ralston of Indiana.
Right End—Pinchot of Pennsylv-vania.

Quarterback—Lodge of Massachusetts, (Capt).
Left Halfback—Johnson of California.

Right Halfback—Lafollette of Wisconsin.
Fullback—Edwards of New Jersey.

This team would be especially strong in kicking and interference.
There is lots of bone and muscle on the team and it will probably average 199 pounds in weight.

The ends, Smith and Pinchot, are both very fast as shown by their running Nov. 7, and will get down the field on any kick, however low, and the make-up of the team makes it necessary to have ends equipped to handle all kinds of kicking.

The line as a whole is strong and heavy and it will take a strong team to make a first down through the forwards. Its blocking would be especially effective.

Lodge of Mass. is placed at quarterback and will captain the team, probably doing most of the passing.
Lodge is recognized as one of the hardest thinkers in the game today and while he is the lightest man on the team in weight, his accuracy at passing and his ability to get the most kicking and interference out of the team named, easily gives him
the place.

The backs, Johnson, Lafollette and Edwards, are all "triple threat" men, heavy, strong and capable of breaking the line, passing and kicking, to say nothing of shining at interference.

All Over Indiana

Bloomington — Mayor Harris has received a toy water wagon and a note of sympathy and condolence over the water situation here from Mayor Geis of Greencastle as a Christmas present.

Columbus — Citizens here say Columbus barbers are "making progress to normalcy backwards" for the shaves have announced a five cent increase for the daily scrape.

Greensburg—A Decatur county man who has smoked for forty-five years has calculated that he has rammed a ton of tobacco into his pipe during that time.

Anderson — Arthur Schneidick, 17, of Cincinnati, told the police he had been robbed of $140, all of the money he had, while beating his way on a freight home for Christmas.

Brazil — James Wilson, who caused the postponement of a trial in the Clay circuit court when he appeared in the jury box in an intoxicated condition, was fined by Judge Hutchinson and given a penal farm sentence for contempt of court.

Hartford City —Members of the Masonic lodge and their families enjoyed a venison dinner here on meat donated by Dea Wesner, big game hunter, who just returned from a trip in the New Brunswick region.

RUSHVILLE POINTS TO VALLEY MILLS

High School Hardwood Men Out to Defeat Team to Which They Lost Overtime Contest

GAME HERE ON WEDNESDAY

The Rushville high school basketball team will tackle Valley Mills here Wednesday night, and a fast game is expected, because Valley Mills recently defeated the locals 27 to 26 in an overtime contest at Valley Mills, and it is said that they have shown big improvement since that time, and on last Saturday night walloped Milroy 41 to 20.

While the varsity is scheduled to play Valley Mills, the second team of the local high school will tangle in the curtain raiser with the high school team from Laurel, and this game also is expected to be an interesting affair.

Valley Mills, which is located in Marion county, near Indianapolis, has a fast aggregation of players and the locals during the last three years, have had games scheduled with them, and each contest has always been hard fought, and much rivalry has sprung up between the two teams.

Coach Jones is putting the team through light workouts this week, after having lost to Richmond on Friday night.

OLD STARS WILL PERFORM

Rushville Five to Meet Arlington Athletic Club Tonight

Basketball fans of this city and county will witness a good game tonight at Arlington, when an all star aggregation of this city, playing under the auspices of the Knights of Pythias lodge, will meet the Arlington Athletic club.

The Rushville team will have many former high school stars in their line-up, including Stewart Harcourt, Lowell Headlee, Emerson Headlee, Keating, Tompkins and others.

Many Rushville people are planning on going over to Arlington tonight to witness the contest, and see the old time players in action.

SPORTS FOR THE WINTER

Don't Mourn For Kilbane

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Sports Editor)
New York, Dec. 26—Johnny Kilbane has long been regarded as the most promising candidate among the pugilistic title holders for the order of the "exes". It has been the popular belief for several years that all the featherweight champion needed to join the list of former titleholders was to meet somebody good.

Since he has been matched to meet Eugene Criqui, the Frenchman, in New York next May, seats on the mourners bench probably will be gathered up now by the scalpers.

Criqui is the European and French featherweight champion and if that means anything, he ought to be some good and if the dope holds out, he ought to be the good one that has been hanging as a threat over the Cleveland Irishman for this long time.

Dope is no more reliable in its application to the ring than it is to football and for this reason, mourning should not be donned too soon for Kilbane.

Kilbane has hung on to that title for a long while, because he is a smart "old man" and there is no evidence to show that he has fallen from his shrewd ways.

Kilbane would not have agreed to a match with Criqui if he had felt that his title was in any great danger.

Criqui may be good in Europe, but he will have a tough time beating a champion who has a knockout punch in both elbows and both knees. Kilbane has it.

Kilbane can't go on forever, however. He is no better than Jack Britton and it is doubtful if he is as good as the former welterweight champion who kept going by fighting. Kilbane hasn't done a thing in the ring for two years and his last appearance against Danny Frush was anything but a boost for the game that has put the featherweight champion on easy street.

Battling Siki's statement that he was supposed to take a dive in the fight with Carpentier did not cause a sensation in this country American fans have been hardened to the point that it might have caused more surprise if the Senegalese had come out with a statement that the fight was on the square.

Even before Siki came out with his "expose", suspicion about the contest was spread around London. It was the story there that the two had agreed to play around for four rounds to make the pictures good and then they were to step out in earnest.

If Carpentier had insisted that the Senegalese take a flop for him, the Frenchman must be in a bad way. It is not conceivable that Jack Dempsey would ask any wild swinging rookie to dive for him and on form before that bout, Carpentier should have won with one hand.

When Carpentier suggest that the proposed purse of 300,000 francs for a return bout with Siki be turned over to scientific research, it might be inferred that Georges is a scientist going in search of something. Perhaps he would like to determine what vital nerve leads from the shoulder to the brain, or why he was knocked out in Jersey City.

SPORT CHATTER

Boston—William H. Meanix, former world's record holder for the 440 yards hurdles, has been recommended to Holland as a coach for the Dutch Olympic team by Jack Ryder, coach of the Boston A. A. Dutch officials wrote to Ryder for suggestions.

St. Paul—Tommy Gibbons, St. Paul heavyweight, has received an offer from a New York promoter to meet Jack Dempsey, he announced. He will accept any terms if the champion will sign, he said.

Pittsburg—Although he has been forced to call off his scheduled bout with Jimmy Delaney in Oklahoma City for January, Harry Greb, light heavyweight champion denied that his eyesight had been badly impaired in his recent fight with Bob Roper.

Philadelphia—John Heisman, who has announced his retirement as head football coach at Pennsylvania, has received an offer to take Earl "Greasy" Neale's place at Washington and Jefferson. Friends say he has received nine other offers.

New York—Frank Frisch, Giant second baseman, denied that he was seeking the presidency of the new baseball players association but admitted he was a member and "wanted to string along with the boys."

Cambridge, Mass.—When George Owen, Harvard football star leaves college next June he will have earned more letters than any other Harvard man in history. He will have three letters each in Hockey, football and baseball.

Society

Miss Mary Ann Scholl will spend this evening in Greenfield, the house guest of friends and will attend the Psi Iota Xi dance given in that city tonight.

The yearly business meeting and election of officers of the Ladies Aid Society of the First Baptist church will be held at the church with an all day meeting Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Root entertained with a family Christmas dinner Monday at their home in North Perkins street. The guests were Mr. and Mrs. Paul Root and daughter of Kenton, Ohio, and Sam Anderson and family.

Miss Hattie Scott of near Mays and Leslie Thompson, son of Mrs. Amy Thompson, were united in marriage Saturday evening at the Main Street Christian parsonage by the Rev. L. E. Brown.

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Stewart had as their dinner guests Christmas day Mr. and Mrs. George Sparks and son Raymond of Indianapolis, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Stewart of Connersville and Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Moore of Orange.

Miss Mary Louise Goodin and Jesse Burton, both of Connersville, were quietly married in this city Sunday evening at the Main Street Christian parsonage by the Rev. L. E. Brown. Mr. and Mrs. Burton will reside in Connersville.

The Psi Iota Xi sorority will hold a Christmas party tonight at the Elk's Club rooms, and all members of the sorority are urged to attend.

The W. W. T. class of the First Baptist church will hold their monthly business meeting Wednesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Clarkson in Buena Vista Avenue. All members are cordially invited and requested to attend this meeting as officers will be elected at this time.

Mr. and Mrs. Errol Stoops delightedly entertained with a family dinner party Monday at their home in North Perkins street. The guests included Mr. and Mrs. J. Bruce Beck and son and Mr. and Mrs. Ray Westerman and son of Anderson, Ind., and Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Stoops and son Bryce of this city.

Mrs. M. H. Walker and sons Howard and Arthur entertained at dinner Sunday the following guests: Mr. and Mrs. Noel Waggoner and son Donald of New Palestine, Ind., Mr. and Mrs. Donald Webb and family, Mr. and Mrs. Wayland Walker and family, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wells and family.

Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Webster entertained with a turkey dinner home northwest of the city. Covers Christmas day at their beautiful were laid for Mr. and Mrs. Charles Dagler and daughter Leona of Stranglers, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Webster, Mr. and Mrs. Alva Junkin and daughter Mary Ruth.

Wright's six piece orchestra of Columbus, Ohio, will furnish the music for the program of dances to be given at the holiday dance of the Elks club Thursday night. The dance is strictly invitational and the dancing will begin at nine o'clock and will last until one. A buffet lunch will be served.

Mr. and Mrs. M. A. McDonald entertained with a Christmas dinner emblems of Christmas and a Christmas tree adorned one of the rooms. The guests were Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Hall, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Matlock and son Harold, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hall of Shelbyville and Horace Cox of Muncie.

Mrs. E. M. Addison entertained Monday with an elegant three course Christmas dinner at her home in Carthage. Only the members of the immediate family were present. The afternoon was enjoyed socially with exchanging of presents. Miss Elizabeth Addison gave two readings and Eli Franklin Addison gave a recitation.

Mrs. Anna Ochiltree of Glenwood entertained with a high noon dinner party today. Candles in crystal holders adorned the table and pretty place cards marked the places for Mr. and Mrs. Van Lewark and son Robert, James Ochiltree and daughter Lou, Mrs. J. C. Newman and daughters Emma and Virginia of Oxford, Ohio, and Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Murphy.

Miss Mary Houchins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. O. Houchins living south of the city, and William Stiers of Indianapolis were united in marriage Monday afternoon at two o'clock at the home of the Rev. J. P. Seull in Milroy. Mrs. Houchins and Miss Grace Major witnessed the ceremony. The bride is a teacher in the Arlington schools and has been a teacher in this county for ten years. Mr. Stiers works for the J. I. Case Company in Indianapolis. Mr. and Mrs. Stiers left on a wedding trip to Kentucky after which they will be at home to their many friends in Indianapolis.

Miss Freda Norris, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Demp C. Norris, and Virgel E. Pyke, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howell Pyke, were united in marriage Saturday morning at 10:30 o'clock, at the home of the bride's parents, near Orange. The Rev. Mr. Schrontz of Indianapolis officiated, the ring remembrance being used. The guests were the immediate families. The bride was gowned in a lovely creation of tulle and lace and carried an arm bouquet of Aaron Ward roses. A wedding breakfast was served after which Mr. and Mrs. Pyke went immediately to their newly furnished home, where they will reside, on a farm near Glenwood.

The W. R. C. will meet Wednesday afternoon at two o'clock in the G. A. R. room of the court house.

The Sons of Veterans auxiliary will meet in the P. O. S. of A. hall tonight at 7:30 o'clock. A good attendance is desired as there will be nomination of officers and inspection.

Mr. and Mrs. James Moore entertained with a dinner party Christmas day at their home in North Perkins street. Covers were laid for Mr. and Mrs. O. P. Wamsley, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Hinshaw. Music was enjoyed during the day.

Mr. and Mrs. Marion Stoten had as their Sunday dinner guests Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Oldman, Mr. and Mrs. John Stoten and daughter Edie of near Mays, Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Stoten and sons, Merrill and Howard of near Carthage and Ted and Donald Stoten of Indianapolis.

Dr. and Mrs. A. G. Shank entertained with a Christmas dinner Monday at their home in Arlington. The guests were Mr. and Mrs. Fred Knecht and family and Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Gilson and family of Cincinnati, Ohio. Miss Kathleen Knecht returned home with Mr. and Mrs. Gilson for a few days visit.

Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Murphy celebrated Christmas with a family dinner party, at their home near Glenwood. The dining table was appropriately decorated with Christmas emblems and covers were laid for James Ochiltree and daughter Lou, Mrs. J. C. Newman and daughters Emma and Virginia of Oxford, Ohio, Mr. and Mrs. Van Lewark and son Robert and Mrs. Anna Ochiltree.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis M. Clark entertained with a pitch-in dinner Christmas day at their home in North Main street. A three course dinner was served at the noon hour and the afternoon was enjoyed informally. The guests were Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Clark of Wichita, Kansas, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Humes, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Humes and son, Dr. and Mrs. N. G. Wills and Ruth and Clark Wills of Connersville, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Offutt of this city, Robert Humes of Indianapolis and Luther Haydon of Lexington, Ky.

The Rev and Mrs. J. T. Seull, living west of Milroy, had as their Christmas guests, W. E. Major and four daughters, Philorah, Helen, Grace and Mary Etta, Mr. and Mrs. Karl Enos and daughter Marjory Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Major, Charles and Fern Seull. A bountiful chicken dinner was served with dessert of ice cream, cake and candy. To complete the joyful occasion, at two o'clock William Stiers and Miss Mary Houchins of Rushville were married by the Rev. Mr. Seull. None of the guests knew a wedding was on the program until the couple appeared at the home for the ceremony.

American Women are More Smartly Gowned Than Their Cousins in Paris

By HEDDA HOYT
(Written for the United Press)

Editor's note—Hedda Hoyt, who has been writing fashion and women's news for the United Press last two years, spent several weeks last fall in Paris and other European centers, looking over European clothes and their wearers. This is the first of a series of stories she will write on her trained observations.

Paris, France (By mail to The United Press)—The American woman who imagines that most of the women of Paris look like fashion plates and who expect to be staggered by the "chicness" of the French women on the boulevards will receive a jolt when visiting Paris.

One sees more smartly gowned women in ten minutes on Fifth Avenue than one sees in a week's time in Paris. At the opera, the theatres, and the smart rendezvous where one would expect to find stunningly dressed women, one is simply amazed to see so few of them. The average American stenographer is as cleverly dressed as many of the so-called "smart" Parisians.

As for bizarre effects the American girl who attempts them so completely outranks her Parisian sister that any comparison is ludicrous. In fact, one sees no bizarre effects in Paris. There is a great sameness about gowns that are all black, stockings that are all flesh-toned and checks that are without color. If there are exceptions to this rule of gowning for the street in Paris this season, one fails to see them.

It is only when one is admitted into the sanctum-sanctorum of the famous gown houses such as Paquin, Poiret, Lavin and others, that one sees creations that really come up to one's expectations. And many of these creations we have seen before among the imports in our exclusive shops. There is a theory that the Parisian designer keeps his finest wares for the Parisian trade and that our American buyers never get to see them, but our American dollar is the medium which disproves this theory.

Skirts are not strikingly long for street and daytime wear in Paris in spite of the fact that they started the long skirt idea. For evening wear they are usually anklelength. The Parisian evening frock is similar to our formal afternoon gown in that it usually has sleeves of some sort and is invariably worn with a turban. The Parisian is seldom without a hat. It may be just a little turban of transparent silver lace or one of the extremely large brimmed affairs that they are favoring at present. Fans and hair ornaments and little accessories which we deem essential adjuncts for the formal evening frock are seldom seen in Paris.

In searching for stunning women we find at once that the average Parisian is handicapped by her physique. Where our American women are usually straight boyish creatures, tall and athletic the Parisian is short and is apt to run to curves. She is essentially a feminine the moving hours as the American showgirl does under the footlights. Her rounded white face is a background for greasy scarlet lips and heavily penciled eyelids.

Quite the most striking thing about the Parisian is her make-up. Our most brazen flappers are reluctant about applying lip rouge in public. Not the Parisian miss. She lays down her salad fork, places her mirror against the coffee pot, daubs her eyelids with a blue crayon, blends the color gently into the lids, reddens her mouth, dips her fingers in the fingerbowl and calls it a day.

At Maxims, which by the way is very disappointing to the American who expects to find it something like our Palis Royal or Mont Marte and finds it a little room filled with smoke and stray women under sad looking light fixtures, one is astonished to see such shabby gowned girls, for even among this doubtful class one expects to see a few startling inspirations of Parisian designers. The American dressmaker could find little inspiration there.

At another popular rendezvous of dance and champagne, one picks out of the dancing throng a girl with chestnut hair and lovely brown eyes, gowned in a creation which is undoubtedly the last word; her legs are trim, her feet correct. There is no bulge about her waistline. But alas as she passes as her liquid voice utters a slang phrase that is entirely American and we are again disillusioned.

But whatever we say of the French woman's clothes, her figure or her overpowering use of cosmetics, we must admit that she has charm. Where other women acquire it, she is born with it. Those heavily penciled eyelids of the little girl of the cafe can express more than the educated eyes of many of our screen stars. She comes of a race of expressive shoulders, of expressive hands. She is art to the fingertips. Give her a simple frock and a box of cosmetics and she will shrug her way into our hearts in spite of the frock and her mask-like little face. The technique of some of the little sixteen-year-old coquettes about Paris would put many of our famous divoresses to shame.

As to the French silhouette, you see it everywhere in smart American shops—varied perhaps by our usage of colors. And if you wish to see beautiful women in Paris gowns look on Fifth Avenue, New York. U. S. A.

County Stands Foremost in Hog Production, But No Interest Is Displayed In Club Work

Some of the farmers of Rush county have been wondering why Rush county, which claims the honor of being the largest hog producing county in the state, has not showed up well in the Hoosier Ton Litter Club work.

The county agent announces today that an effort will be made during the next few weeks to enroll thirty or forty farmers in the work before the date on entry closes on January 31.

The Hoosier Ton Litter Club is one of the activities of the Indiana Livestock Producers Association, which organization awards gold medals to all contestants who succeed in producing a 2,000 pound litter in six months, a silver medal for a 1,800 pound litter, and a bronze medal for a 1,600 pound litter.

Besides the honor of winning a gold or silver medal in the work, this project serves as a means to the farmer of studying factors in hog production, especially where the club has been conducted on a big scale it has proved one of the most interesting projects carried out in those counties.

NO PLACE AVAILABLE FOR PRODUCTS SHOW

Chances Are Not Very Bright For Holding Annual Farmers' Exhib-

MAY HAVE CORN DISPLAY

The question has been asked many times as to whether or not there would be a products show held in the county this year. It is regretted that prospects are not very favorable for a products show, because of several reasons, one of which is the lack of a suitable place to hold it.
The building used last year is not available this year, and there seems to be no other suitable place to hold it.

But a corn show is in prospect and corn men do well to look forward to an announcement of a county corn show some time in January. Other important things have tended to crowd out arrangements for the show so far, but it is hoped that definite steps will be taken immediately after the holidays.

There is some excellent corn in the county and a very creditable show should be possible this year. A number of farmers are known to have already selected samples of corn in anticipation for a county show and they will not be disappointed if it is at all possible to have the show.

this work should get in touch with the county agent at once. He will be glad to send an outline of the club and the rules to anyone interested. A meeting in regard to ton litter work is being arranged and the plans will be announced later.

59 GROWERS IN SELECT CLASS

This Number of Contestants Produced 100 Bushels or More—Two Rush County Men Qualify

Lafayette, Ind., Dec. 26—Fifty-nine Indiana corn growers produced 100 bushels or more per acre on an area of five acres in the 1922 Five Acre Corn Growing Contest, and thereby became eligible for membership in the 100 Bushel Corn Club, the most select circle of Indiana corn men. This is the largest number of 100 bushel club men for any year since the contest started in 1914.
Announcement of the winners was made today by the Agricultural Extension Department of Purdue University which co-operates with the Indiana Corn Growers' Association in conducting the contest. Each 100 bushel man will get a gold medal from the corn growers, the presentation to take place at the farmers' short course here Jan. 8 to 12.

Two Rush county men were among the fifty-nine in the select class, Claude Sears of Mays having averaged 107.8 bushels on his five acre tract and W. L. Booth of Milroy 100.3 bushels. The standing on the ten Rush county contestants was announced December 8.

SECOND MEETING AT MAYS

Last Of Series Of Rush County Meetings Will Be Held At Moscow
Saturday Feb 3.

Committee in various committees in Rush county are working earnestly on the programs and arrangements for the series of farmers institutes which will be held during the month of January, and judging by the reports coming from some of the committees, the institutes this year will surpass previous ones.

The first institute will be held at Arlington under the management of a committee headed by Zeno Hodge on Tuesday, January 2. Mr. Hodge announced today that a strong program has been arranged and that plans have been completed for an exhibit of corn and other products
H. M. Widney of St. Joe, Indiana, and Mrs. W. C. Roberts of Bedford will be the state speakers and these speakers are well recommended.

A special feature of the Arlington Institute this year will be a boys corn judging and scoring contest which will be conducted under the supervision of W. O. Swain and Albert Reddick, both well known corn experts of Posey township. This feature of the institute will prove a valuable addition to the session.

EARLY WHEAT IS INJURED BY FLY

Purdue Survey Of Farms Where Wheat Was Planted Before Date Has Been Made

MOST PLACES INFECTED

Other Places Where Farmers Sowed Wheat After The Date. Shows Wheat To Be Free Of Disease

In some sections of Indiana it is not difficult to locate wheat fields sowed before the "fly-free" date. A recent survey by entomologists from Purdue University of such fields in Adams, Jay, Dekalb, Tippecanoe, LaPorte and Vigo counties show all such early sown fields to contain more or less fly, 10 to 70 per cent of the plants being infested. In fields sown after the "fly-free" date the fly is absent or practically so.

While the early sown fields are not so numerous they are sufficiently generally scattered in some counties to permit a rather general infestation next spring and a heavy infestation next fall unless checked by natural enemies or prevented from ovipositing by properly timing the sowing.

"As pointed out this last fall the wheat grower should plan never to sow until after the "fly-free" date, even in years when the fly is not overly abundant, as has been the case this past season", said Prof. J. J. Davis head of the entomology department. "In fact, it is as important to delay sowing until the right time in years of fly scarcity as in other years because by so doing we will be unable to hold the fly in continual check to better advantage. The importance of every one following this practice was also emphasized. The fly may travel several miles and one early sown field is sufficient to raise enough fly to infest the wheat in the spring or the following fall for miles around."

HENRY COUNTY

with a yield of 120.6 bushels per acre, winner in 1921, again has officially produced the highest yield of corn in Indiana. Last year he grew 127.0 bushels per acre. Mr. Hardin is producing these high yields on river bottom soil. Field selecting of seed and testing, are practiced every year and the corn is drilled rather thick at planting time. These operations, Mr. Hardin believes, are necessary for a high, economical yield of corn. This strain of mixed corn has also been awarded premiums in many county shows, and last year was given a high placing in the State Show.

R. L. Heilman of Bartholomew County, and W. S. Roebuck of Allen County, are close contenders for second honors. Mr. Heilman has a yield of 117.5 bushels per acre, while Mr. Roebuck's yield is 117.3. Both are good corn breeders and have strains of corn which are winners in corn shows. A 10-ear sample of Johnson County White selected and raised by Mr. Heilman was awarded Grand Sweepstakes at the State Corn Show at Lafayette last January. This is the same strain of corn that produced 117.5 bushels per acre.

A total of 499 contestants in 53 counties completed the work this year, which is exceptionally good considering the drouth which prevailed in most parts of the state last year. Of the 499 contestants, 304 produced 75 bushels or more per acre on the five acre tract; 119 getting 75 to 85 bushels; 126 produced 85 to 100 bushels and 59 produced 100 bushels or more. The corn growers association again will give bronze silver and gold medals to the three classes of winners.

The average yields for all 499 men is 79 per acre and for the medal winners, 88 bushels, which is extremely high when checked against the state average of 37 bushels per acre.

"Many good corn growers of the state have proven that by using better seed and with better soil treatment, the average corn yield in Indiana can be increased considerably," said R. S. Thomas, in charge of the contest. "It is also very noticeable that the higher yields were produced cheaper per bushel than the lower ones."

An important feature of the Five-Acre Contest is the demonstrational idea.

PLAN PROGRAM FOR FARM INSTITUTES

mittee in charge of the Arlington meeting has arranged an extra session of the institute, which will be held the night preceeding the regular all day session. A splendid program has been arranged for this meeting.

Mays will be the place of the second institute meeting and the chairman in charge of the arrangements there is Claude Sears. He announces that besides a good program a corn and culinary exhibit will be special features. Mays will also have a special extra session the night preceeding the regular session. Mr. Widney and Mrs. Roberts will be the state speakers at the Mays institute.

On Saturday, January 6 the joint institute of Noble and Richland townships will be held at the New Salem school house. Definite arrangements for this meeting have not been announced, but they always have good meetings at New Salem. Mrs. J. D. Canan of Indianapolis and J. P. Prigg of Middletown will be the state speakers.

The Milroy institute will be held Wednesday, January 31, with R. L. Thompson of Topeka, Indiana, and Mrs. R. A. Ogg of Greencastle as the speakers.

The last of the series of Rush county meetings will be at Moscow on Saturday, February 3, with Mr. Thompson and Mrs. Ogg as speakers.

WEEKLY STORE NEWS

From ALLEN'S

After the most tremendous rush in the history of this store we are cleaned up and ready to give our customers the attention they deserve, something we were not able to do at times last week.

We would hire more clerks for holiday business but if we did there wouldn't be any room for the customers.

It is our custom to go through our stock at the beginning of each year and place on sale all articles that have not sold as fast as they should. Many of these articles are sold for less than they cost us. This will be your opportunity to pick up some genuine bargains in good foods.

We have just received our first shipment of Loyalty Flour. Dozens of flour salesmen have tried to sell us their goods, but in LOYALTY we believe that we have what we have been looking for, an extra high grade hard wheat flour at a medium price. LOYALTY has the strongest guarantee of any flour we have ever sold, and there is no chance for the customer to lose. The price per 24½ pound bag is $1.15; we can make you a price on barrel lots that makes a worth while saving. If you have one of the checks mailed out by the Newton Milling Company, it is worth 15c on the price of a 24½ pound bag of LOYALTY.

We haven't had such fine oysters in years as those we are receiving now—Pints, 35c; quarts, 65c.

ACKNOWLEDGING A GIFT FROM THE PUBLIC

CHRISTMAS and New Years is a time for men to forget what is coming to them, and to remember what is coming to others, and it is in this spirit that we publish this acknowledgment of what is coming to you. The truth is, that whatever was coming to us in the shape of prosperity this year has come, and the purpose of this announcement is, not to solicit favors, but to register thanks. The citizens of this town and surrounding country have been very good to this store. They have responded to its advertisements. They have endorsed its policy and methods. And they have examined and approved and bought its merchandise. They have given us volume in return for values, sales in return for service, business in return for benefits received, and thus, they have done more than wish us a Happy New Year and a Merry Christmas—they have assured it with the priceless gift of public confidence! !

Thank You, and a Happy New Year

again today. The story is woven around a young man who, while he remains in the city, is a criminal. But when circumstances take him out into the open spaces of the country he becomes a changed man and soon love and peace transform him. Mr. Meighan gives one of the most masterful performances of his career and he is supported by a popular cast of players. Pauline Stark plays opposite the star with sympathetic effect. Tom Forman directed.

A man immensely rich. A man who had the greatest respect for women.

But a man who never married.

This was Cecil John Rhodes, empire-maker and philanthropist, who is the original of the character of John Queech in Cynthia Stokely's story, "Pink Gods and Blue Demons," which Penrhyn Stanlaw's has screened as a Paramount picture under the title "Pink Gods," featuring Bebe Daniels, James Kirkwood, Anna Q. Nilsson and Raymond Hatton. It will be a feature at the Princess Wednesday and Thursday.

Farnum At Mystic

On Wednesday the Mystic theatre will show the Fox production, "The Yosemite Trail," starring Dustin Farnum, who has scored many successes on both stage and screen. As its name indicates, the story occurs in the Yosemite Valley. This background lends itself admirably for the excellent photography of the film. The picture is said to be filled with exciting action that is sustained from beginning to end. The majestic grandeur of the Yosemite is used by the director to create the impression of hugeness and power. So well has this been done, according to report, that the characters seem to stand forth like primitive giants who struggle for mastery.

This is the sort of photoplay in which Dustin Farnum excels and judging from his previous work, it should prove interesting entertainment.

Meighan At Princess

That crime is largely the product of environment was properly demonstrated in Thomas Meighan's latest Paramount picture, "If You Believe It, It's So," which received its initial presentation at the Princess theatre Monday and was shown

Purdue Survey Of Farms Where Wheat Was Planted Before Date Has Been Made

MOST PLACES INFECTED

Other Places Where Farmers Sowed Wheat After The Date, Shows Wheat To Be Free Of Disease

In some sections of Indiana it is not difficult to locate wheat fields sowed before the "fly-free" date. A recent survey by entomologists from Purdue University of such fields in Adams, Jay Dekalb, Tippecanoe, LaPorte and Vigo counties show all such early sown fields to contain more or less fly, 10 to 70 per cent of the plants being infested. In fields sown after the "fly-free" date the fly is absent or practically so.

While the early sown fields are not so numerous they are sufficiently generally scattered in some counties to permit a rather general infestation next spring and a heavy infestation next fall unless checked by natural enemies or prevented from ovipositing by properly timing the sowing.

"As pointed out this last fall the wheat grower should plan never to sow until after the "fly-free" date, even in years when the fly is not overly abundant, as has been the case this past season", said Prof. J. J. Davis head of the entomology department. "In fact, it is as important to delay sowing until the right time in years of fly scarcity as in other years because by so doing we will be unable to hold the fly in continual check to better advantage. The importance of every one following this practice was also emphasized. The fly may travel several miles and one early sown field is sufficient to raise enough fly to infest the wheat in the spring or the following fall for miles around."

HENRY COUNTY

MAN REPEATER

Continued from Page One with a yield of 120.6 bushels per acre, winner in 1921, again has officially produced the highest yield of corn in Indiana. Last year he grew 127.0 bushels per acre. Mr. Hardin is producing these high yields on river bottom soil. Field selecting of seed and testing, are practiced every year and the corn is drilled rather thick at planting time. These operations, Mr. Hardin believes, are necessary for a high, economical yield of corn. This strain of mixed corn has also been awarded premiums in many county shows, and last year was given a high placing in the State Show.

R. L. Heilman of Bartholomew County, and W. S. Roebuck of Allen County, are close contenders for second honors. Mr. Heilman has a yield of 117.5 bushels per acre, while Mr. Roebuck's yield is 117.3. Both are good corn breeders and have strains of corn which are winners in corn shows. A 10-ear sample of Johnson County White selected and raised by Mr. Heilman was awarded Grand Sweepstakes at the State Corn Show at Lafayette last January. This is the same strain of corn that produced 117.5 bushels per acre.

A total of 499 contestants in 53 counties completed the work this year, which is exceptionally good considering the drouth which prevailed in most parts of the state last year. Of the 499 contestants, 304 produced 75 bushels or more per acre on the five acre tract; 119 getting 75 to 85 bushels; 126 produced 85 to 100 bushels and 59 produced 100 bushels or more. The corn growers association again will give bronze silver and gold medals to the three classes of winners.

The average yields for all 499 men is 79 per acre and for the medal winners, 88 bushels, which is extremely high when checked against the state average of 37 bushels per acre.

"Many good corn growers of the state have proven that by using better seed and with better soil treatment, the average corn yield in Indiana can be increased considerably," said R. S. Thomas, in charge of the contest. "It is also very noticeable that the higher yields were produced cheaper per bushel than the lower ones."

An important feature of the Five-Acre Contest is the demonstrational idea.

PLAN PROGRAM FOR FARM INSTITUTES

Continued from Page One mittee in charge of the Arlington meeting has arranged an extra session of the institute, which will be held the night preceding the regular all day session. A splendid program has been arranged for this meeting.

Mays will be the place of the second institute meeting and the chairman in charge of the arrangements there is Claude Sears. He announces that besides a good program a corn and culinary exhibit will be special features. Mays will also have a special extra session the night preceding the regular session. Mr. Widney and Mrs. Roberts will be the state speakers at the Mays institute.

On Saturday, January 6 the joint institute of Noble and Richland townships will be held at the New Salem school house. Definite arrangements for this meeting have not been announced, but they always have good meetings at New Salem. Mrs. J. D. Canan of Indianapolis and J. P. Prigg of Middletown will be the state speakers.

The Milroy institute will be held Wednesday, January 31, with R. L. Thompson of Topeka, Indiana, and Mrs. R. A. Ogg of Greencastle as the speakers.

The last of the series of Rush county meetings will be at Moscow on Saturday, February 3, with Mr. Thompson and Mrs. Ogg as speakers.

WEEKLY STORE NEWS

From ALLEN'S

After the most tremendous rush in the history of this store we are cleaned up and ready to give our customers the attention they deserve, something we were not able to do at times last week.

We would hire more clerks for holiday business but if we did there wouldn't be any room for the customers.

It is our custom to go through our stock at the beginning of each year and place on sale all articles that have not sold as fast as they should. Many of these articles are sold for less than they cost us. This will be your opportunity to pick up some genuine bargains in good foods.

We have just received our first shipment of Loyalty Flour. Dozens of flour salesmen have tried to sell us their goods, but in LOYALTY we believe that we have what we have been looking for, an extra high grade hard wheat flour at a medium price. LOYALTY has the strongest guarantee of any flour we have ever sold, and there is no chance for the customer to lose. The price per 24 1/2 pound bag is $1.15; we can make you a price on barrel lots that makes a worth while saving. If you have one of the checks mailed out by the Newton Milling Company, it is worth 15c on the price of a 24 1/2 pound bag of LOYALTY.

We haven't had such fine oysters in years as those we are receiving now—Pints, 35c; quarts, 65c.

Everybody tired of turkey, chicken and Christmas sweets? How about sauer kraut and weinerwursts?

ACKNOWLEDGING A GIFT FROM THE PUBLIC

CHRISTMAS and New Years is a time for men to forget what is coming to them, and to remember what is coming to others, and it is in this spirit that we publish this acknowledgment of what is coming to you. The truth is, that whatever was coming to us in the shape of prosperity this year has come, and the purpose of this announcement is, not to solicit favors, but to register thanks. The citizens of this town and surrounding country have been very good to this store. They have responded to its advertisements. They have endorsed its policy and methods. And they have examined and approved and bought its merchandise. They have given us volume in return for values, sales in return for service, business in return for benefits received, and thus, they have done more than wish us a Happy New Year and a Merry Christmas—they have assured it with the priceless gift of public confidence!

Thank You, and a Happy New Year
